

Developing Key Working Agreements

Comments to the Facilitator: This activity will enable a group to develop a set of working agreements or ground rules. In existing groups, anonymity will help ensure that everyone is able to express their ideas freely. For this reason it is essential provide pens or pencils or to ask that everyone use the same type of writing implement.

Supplies: Index cards, pens or pencils, poster paper, display board, tape, tacks

Time: Two hours

Directions

1. Explain to the group that effective groups generally have a set of agreements that govern individual behavior, facilitate the work of the group to accomplish its task.
2. Provide examples of agreements by posting the list of agreements.
3. Recommend to the group that it establish a set of agreements:
 - To ensure that all individuals have the opportunity to contribute in the meeting;
 - To increase productivity and effectiveness; and
 - To facilitate the achievement of its goals
4. Give five index cards and the same kind of writing tool to each person in the group.
5. Ask each person to reflect on and record behaviors they consider ideal behaviors for a group. Ask them to write one idea on each of their cards. Time: 10 minutes.
6. Shuffle all the cards together. Every effort would be made to provide anonymity for individuals, especially if the group has worked together before.
7. Turn cards face up and read each card aloud. Allow time for the group member to discuss each idea. Tape or tack each card to a display board so that all group members can see it. As each card is read aloud, ask the group to determine if it is similar to another idea that already has been expressed. Cards with similar ideas should be grouped together.
8. When all of the cards have been sorted, ask the group to write the agreement suggested by each group of cards. Have one group member record these new agreements on a large sheet of paper.
9. Review the proposed agreements with the group. Determine whether the group can support the agreement before the group adopts them.
